Domain Redemption Request

Supplemental Terms

1. 1&1 may decline any request for any reason whatsoever, in its sole and unfettered discretion. 1&1 reserves the right to request additional information and or documentation prior to carrying out the request in its sole discretion.

2. The individual listed under Account Information (the "Current Owner") represents and warrants that he or she has the full and complete authority to initiate the actions requested pursuant to this form (the "Requested Actions") and, as further set forth in the GT&C, releases, discharges, and agrees to indemnify 1&1 from any and all claims arising from the Requested Actions. The Current Owner further warrants and represents that the information on the form is correct.

3. In the case of a change of ownership (i.e., the individual and/or company name are changed), the Current Owner hereby transfers and conveys to the individual or company listed under New Information (the New Owner) all right, title and interest in the account and any related domain names. The Current Owner further warrants and represents that he or she has the full and complete right and authority to act on behalf of any domain name registrant listed under the account. The Current Owner is not entitled to a refund of any fees or payment paid to 1&1, is responsible for any and all charges arising prior to the date of such transfer.

4. By signing this form, the New Owner, if any, warrants that he or she has read, understands and agrees to be bound by the GT&C in their entirety, and that he or she has the authority to do so. The New Owner further warrants and represents that the information on this Request Form is correct. The New Owner must update the credit card details on the account by accessing <https://admin.1and1.com> within five days after the transfer as follows: log into the account, click ACCOUNT at the top, and then click Credit Card Details. Failure to update the credit card information may lead to suspension or termination of the account and loss of associated data or domain names without further notice.

5. In the case of a change to a domain name where the name of the registrant differs from that of the Current Owner, the Current Owner represents and warrants that he or she has the right and authorization of the registrant to initiate such transfer.

6. In the case of a domain redemption, you hereby authorize 1&1 Internet to remove the said domain(s) from redemption period status and attach the domain to the contract listed above. You also agree to the redemption fee of $50.00 USD per domain and any other fees associated with the redemption, and you further authorize 1&1 Internet Inc. to debit the credit card on the account listed above for that amount, in addition to any fees for the account.

7. In the case of a domain deletion, you understand that the domain name(s) will no longer be available or redeemable once deleted. You further acknowledge and agree that you are responsible for any and all charges or costs relating to the domain name(s) which arise prior to or as a result of your registration or deletion of the domain name, including but not limited to registration fees, renewal fees, and legal costs. You further agree that should 1&1 may, in its sole discretion, disclose your contact information in response to a request for information, subpoena, lawsuit or any other legal process relating to the deleted domain name(s) without your consent or notice to you.

8. The Current Owner and, if applicable, the New Owner authorize 1&1 to take any actions necessary to effectuate the Requested Actions.

Documentation Required for Certain Requests

Generally, 1&1 will refuse change requests which are not initiated with the consent of the individual whose name is listed on the account (the Account Information). If your account is a personal account (i.e., there is
